TO THE EDITOR OF THE STANDARD
BUENOS AIRES.

Dear Sir,

It having come to my knowledge that Mr. James Lawrie has stated in the most public manner "that the Gelding now called 'Sargento' formerly named 'Bonnie Dundee' sold by me to Sr Don Enrique Biane, is an imported thoroughbred, and not a mestizo as I have certified him to be."

I now beg to state in an equally public manner (though the mistatum of your journal) that any such statement is entirely false, and I hereby challenge Mr Lawrie to prove it otherwise.

I am, Dear Sir
Yours sincerely

President Latorre resigned his post and resignation accepted by Senate.

4.45 p.m.

Colonel Latorre has tendered his resignation to the Legislative body as President of the Republic, which will not be accepted, in all probability; he has published a manifesto directed to the country, in which he states that he declines to take any further participation in public affairs; thanks the people for their co-operation in his Administration, and declares that in retiring to private life he carries with him the disheartening conviction that our country is ungovernable.

Things have come to a serious political crisis, which will end, no doubt, in a Dictatorship.

A public meeting is to be held immediately, in which such a measure will be decided upon, and such is the general opinion.

Everything quiet so far, and no disturbances are apprehended. I forward the manifesto in a letter.

6.50 p.m.

The whole Government has resigned office.

The Vice-President Vidal accepted the demise of Montero, Cerro, and Vasquez at 4 p.m., Mendez only acting up to the last to sign the appointments of the Under-Secretaries to act in place of the Ministers and retiring from office after. Sr. Vidal tendered his resignation to the Chambers.

The meeting will take place tomorrow in the great square Independencia. The two Houses of Legislature met to read the President's resignation and appointed a Committee to report (dictaminar.)

CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY.

The affair in Azul, which has given rise to such bitter telegrams between the Juez de Paz of that town and the Governor of the Province, is but another evidence of the conflict of authority and the acerbity of party feeling. It would seem as if our Provincial and National authorities cultivate trouble for no other purpose than mutual humiliation.

The history of this Azul business, whether we take it from the text of the Juez de Paz's telegram, or Col. Fotheringham's despatch, is based upon a crime against our military law and our civil or statute law. The facts are as follows: The Col. in command of the 7th of the Line, which is at present quartered in Azul, finding that some of the soldiers were selling their Remingtons, gave orders to have the purchasers of the arms arrested. On Wednesday evening a little after sundown a 'teniente' with a picket of soldiers surrounded the almacen of Srs. Rudecindo, Bolivar and Co., which is situated at the corner of the principal plaza in the town. Teniente Soria entered the shop sword in hand, struck the couuter, and declared everyone in the place under arrest: shopkeeper, clerk and even the customers. As a natural result in a place of such small dimensions as Azul, the whole town was instantly in an uproar. According to Col. Fotheringham, the teniente after charging the pulpero with the offence of buying arms from the soldiers, which the pulpero flatly denied, went round behind the counter, and then and there discovered a Remington belonging to his regiment. Nothing could be clearer than the proof against the 'pulpero.' Lieutenant Soria was preparing to walk off with the 'patron' and his clerk, and take them prisoners to the barracks, when in stepped the Juez de Paz, Sr. Boado, who ordered the officer to at once liberate his prisoners, as military law was not in force in Azul, and no man could be arrested except by the civil authorities, unless a soldier. Lieutenant Soria evidently felt that the Juez de Paz was right in his interpretation of the law, since he drew off his men and retired to his barrack without his prisoners; and there, most assuredly, the matter should have ended; but, unfortunately, there is a line of telegraph between Azul and this city, and just as fast as the telegraph clerk could work the instrument, a message was despatched to the Minister of the Provincial Government, which is certainly undeserving of translation. On the spur of the moment the Governor of the Province ordered a note to be addressed to the National Government, asking for the punishment, not of the shopkeeper who bought the Remington, but of the officer and soldiers who surrounded the house and were about to make them all prisoners; and the Governor ordered another despatch to be sent to the Juez de Paz, telling that dignitary that he should use every means to prevent a repetition of the offence, and if he had not sufficient force, to telegraph to town; and to arrest the same number of soldiers as they had arrested of the citizens, and to forward them to town. On the heel of this dispatch comes Colonel Fotheringham's note to the Minister of War, which gives his version of the matter, which not only charges the shopkeepers of the town with subborning the soldiers and trying to buy from them their Remingtons and their bayonets, but further charges the Juez de Paz with using the most insulting language towards the soldiers and their officer.

We have tried to set the matter before our readers as plainly and as impartially as the documents will allow; but it is impossible to conceal the offence which gave birth to the scandal; namely, the suborning of the soldiers by the shopkeepers of Azul, an offence which in every country incurs punishment, but which seems to have escaped mention in the ephemeral political telegrams before us. The hardest task a man ever undertook in this or in any other country is to make wrong right; and it needs no observation on our part to point out to our readers where the merits of the case lie, and on which side the very gravest of errors have been committed.

The after documents in connection with this affair are undeserving of either comment or publication.

TRADE WITH BOLIVIA

Argentine trade with Bolivia is as yet but in its infancy; and the turn or development which many looked forward to on the breaking out of the West Coast War has not been realized. It takes a long time to divert the current of any trade, but to bring to the East Coast of South America what for generations has flowed to the West is a task that needs more than Government edicts to effect. Mr. Bravo, armed with the most sweeping concessions, is at present in London trying, in the language of the Times, to show the people of London that 'the leaves of the Bolivian trees whisper so much per cent. profit,' but as yet he has not succeeded to the extent he aimed at. Until Roads, Railways and Rivers are brought into vigorous play, but little can be expected from any efforts to change the course of Bolivian trade from the Pacific to the Atlantic: meanwhile the following new Customs regulations for goods in transit from Bolivia may perhaps serve to turn a portion of Bolivian trade towards the River Plate:—

Nat. Revenue Department,
B. Ayres, Feb. 24, 1880.

To the Minister of Finance,

I have the honour to hand Y.E. a dratt copy of the proposed regulations for goods in transit through the Republic from Bolivia to foreign ports, in conformity with the Treaty of 1868.

In drawing up these regulations, the Directors have kept in view the great advantage of connecting the trade of both countries, and they have adopted simple and liberal forms calculated to this end, which may prove of transcendental importance to this Republic.

Y.E. will see by Art. 25 that all documents in connection with this transit trade are exempted from stamp duty, as the Treaty, in Art. XI., says that only deposit, peage and pontazgo dues shall be charged.

Art. 24 lays down that goods shall be subject to eslingage, even if not put in deposit, and although this tax is not mentioned in the Treaty, we consider that the Treaty is not violated by imposing it, the tax being purely a repayment of the disbursement which the Custom House makes for peones, as almacenaje is merely the rent it pays for deposit.

Should Y.E. approve of these rules, they will fill a want which is much felt.

God preserve Y.E.,
Cristobal Aguirre,
Luis S. Boado, Sec.

National Finance Office, B. Ayres,
March 4th, 1880.

Approved. Let the Directors-General of Revenue communicate and publish it.

AVELLANEDA,
V. de la Plaza.

Rules for Goods in Transit from Bolivia.

Art. 1. Goods exported from Bolivia to foreign countries in transit through this Republic must be shown at the nearest Resguardo to the point where they pass the frontier, with a guia (in duplicate) from the Bolivian Custom House, and vised by the Argentine Consul, if there is one, in the place from whence the goods come.

Art. 2. These guias must contain full details as to trade mark, number and contents of packages.

Art. 3. When the goods are presented at the frontier Resguardo the packages will be compared with the description of their exterior appearance in the guias, and if found correct, 'Conforme' will be written across one of the guias, which will be handed to the owner for presentation at the Custom House where the goods are bound for.

Art. 4. The other guias shall be sent to the Customs authorities at Jujuy or Salta.

Art. 5. Goods must travel along the principal highroads, to the nearest Custom House, any deviation to bye-roads being considered illicit unless justified by full explanations.

Art. 6. The Custom House referred to in the foregoing Article shall verify, as far as may be considered necessary, the contents of the packages, to see that they agree with the guia, but care must be taken not to injure the goods.

Art. 7. If all is found correct, the Customs officials will write 'Conforme, pass to Rosario Custom-house' on the guia already marked by the Resguardo, and when signed by the Administrator the goods will be allowed to proceed on their way.

Art. 8. The other copy of the guia will be sent by post to the Administrator of Rosario, a copy of it being first taken in a book specially kept for the purpose.

Art. 9. Before the guia is handed back to the party interested, he must sign a promissory note at 4 months' date, and give a guarantee which the Administrator approves of, for the payment of the duties on the goods.

Art. 10. The valuation of the goods shall be taken in the ordinary way, excluding those on which no-import duty is payable.

Art. 11. If the 4 months of the bill expire before a voucher from the Rosario Custom House is presented to prove that the goods have been exported, the payment will be enforced, and no excuse of accident or 'force majeure' will be accepted.

Art. 12. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding Article the party interested can lay the case before the Minister of Finance and appeal that the duties paid may be returned to him.

Art. 13. When the goods arrive at Rosario the party interested must present at the Custom House an embarkation permit (in duplicate) together with the guia, and the details of the goods in each must agree exactly.

Art. 14. When the guias and permits have been duly compared, the Administrator will write on one of the permits an order to the Resguardo to allow the goods to be embarked; the other copy to be handed the captain of the exporting ship, and all the forms usual in exporting goods to be observed.

Art. 15. When the goods are cleared the Administrator will send back by post to the Custom House from whence it came the copy of the guia received, putting on it a note of the goods having been exported, and the party interested can apply for a certificate to the same effect, if he so desire.

Art. 16. When the Custom House which sent it gets back the guia it will be cancelled and the bill of the guarantor returned to him.

Art. 17. In case the goods are not exported direct from the Rosario Custom House, but have also to pass through that at B. Ayres, the former shall not cancel the guias until a voucher is received from the latter to the effect that the goods have been exported, it being the business of the parties interested to procure said voucher.

Art. 18. The produce or goods to which these Regulations refer, when they reach Rosario cannot be placed in private deposits or houses, but must either be embarked direct or placed in the Government bonded stores, excepting those articles exempted by law from either import or export duty.

Art. 19. When the export takes place through the Buenos Ayres Custom House the goods or produce must be sent direct on board the exporting vessel, or deposited as provided in the preceding article.

Art. 20. When it is desired to place the goods in deposit, a Custom House (in duplicate) permit must first be obtained and all the usual Customs' regulations strictly complied with.

Art. 21. The goods once in the deposits, the party interested can demand a voucher of the fact, and this voucher will suffice for having the bill which he gave for duties cancelled.

Art. 22. Goods in deposit can subsequently be embarked in the manner laid down in Arts. 13 and 14, a transit guia being necessary when they are consigned to the B. Ayres Custom House.

Art. 23. If it should be desired to clear the goods in deposit for consumption, the usual forms, stamps and duties in case of imported goods will be levied.

Art. 24. The goods affected by these regulations shall be subject to no duty whatever, either entering or leaving, expect warehouse and eslingage when despatched direct.

Art. 25. The guias, permits and promissory notes referred to in the foregoing Articles shall be issued on unstamped paper.

Art. 26. Any frauds or infraction of rules will be punished in accordance with the Custom House Bye-laws made and provided for analogous cases.

THE BENGAL TIGER.

In the year when the young Queen came to the throne, there was produced at the little theatre in Wych Street Strand, hallowed by the genius of Robson, a play in one act, somewhat inaptly termed a farce, which immediately rivetted the attention of the public. Indeed the character of the Nabob had always been an infinite source of amusement, constantly used by playwrights in their frequently ephemeral constructions. The Nabob of Warren Hastings' time, however, has fortunately disappeared. The savage old Nabob, with an immense fortune, a tawny complexion, a bad liver, and a worse heart, of Macaulay; and Sir Paul Pagoda is but a relic of a bad past reality.

Sir Paul, having returned from India, and bringing with him some singular pets, has taken up his abode with a nephew and niece at Putney, where his habits of life make him a pretty considerable bore. The faithful old retainer of the family (David) knowing his master's circumstances to be not of the best, is alarmed at the cost of maintaining Sir Paul's menagerie. An elderly single gentlewoman (Miss Yellowleaf) 'sets her cap' at the Bengal Tiger, and in pursuit of her game attempts to accompany the Nabob in the enjoyment of his hookah, giving rise to a very comic scene. David, fathoming the elderly spinster's design, desires to frustrate it in the interests of his master and mistress (the nephew and niece of Sir Paul.) The dialogue between the old maid and the servant is overheard by Sir Paul, as well as a series of apostrophes which the old servant addresses to the Nabob's picture, the effect of which is to convert the Nabob into a respectable member of society. The scene between Sir Paul and David is so replete with intense pathos as to raise the play above the level of mere farce.

So successful is the piece that, as is generally known, it has been translated into several languages, and may not unfrequently be seen in the Castilian in this city.

When we mention that the protagonists are Mr. Wm. Martin, and the gentleman who so admirably played Potter, in 'Still Waters Run Deep,' we think there is fair warranty of success at the Opera on Wednesday.

MONTEVIDEO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

March 10th.

My letter has remained over through getting just too late for the post on Monday, and no packet leaving since. Much talk is raised by the marching of some troops to the 'litoral' or up-river districts, and the Nacion says it is all the effect of the usual change of garrison service along the Uruguay. I see that Signor Tesanos and other Uruguayan emigrants were warned by the Brazilian authorities up north against any political attempts at invading from their country. This looks well for the suppression of the 'montonera' as far as Brazil is concerned.

Two of our worthy native papers, the official advocates of the Government, as they are called, the Nacion and the Ferro-Carril, propose that this State shall have its National Exhibition of home produce and manufactures, and, apparently it will be carried out in the course of time. The opposition, as usual systematically oppose it, and will throw all the obstacles possible in the way of success. Curious facts, but nevertheless, stubborn facts for all that, are those exhibited by our opposition press. No matter what is proposed, good or bad—every thing meets with determined opposition. Now, it seems to me that in questions where the interests of the country are concerned, the opposition should side with the interests aforesaid; and an exhibition of the kind proposed would tend to do mighty good for the country and should not be thwarted. But party politics with us must have complete sway; let the country suffer, provided the obnoxious rulers, of the time being, be made to lose ground. Here we have the opposition writing constant leaders in their journals representing us abroad as in a state of bankruptcy, starvation and penury which is not at all calculated to enhance our commercial intercourse with the world at large. The Diario del Comercio had a review last fortnight 'para el exterior' which was overladen with gloomy representations for the future of such a calibre that any one reading them abroad will certainly not think of exposing their interests by shipping imports to this country. And yet this is a commercial journal supported by the commercial community, and a red-hotopposition paper at the same time.

Oh! I was forgetting to tell you a very imposing piece of news. The bull-fighters are off to Spain. The Tamar had the honour to make us a good riddance, carrying all these masqueraders of the middle ages away for good and all. Sapristie! the poor beasts will have a rejoicing now that the amateurs of piece-meal butchering are to get no more of it for a time being. I hear that some of the poor girls that went to the savage game last fortnight, owing to the motive of the performance (for the benefit of the Murcia fund) were so horrified that they nearly lost their senses.

Rumors are in circulation to the effect that the Italian steamer Humberto 1º which left this river a few days ago has been burnt at sea. No one knows how the news can possibly have got abroad, if true, without the agency having been informed. It looks like a hoax of a very brutal, dastardly kind.

On the 14th inst. the autumn grand races take place at 'Maroñas' and a good deal of excitement is prevalent among the amateurs; but in the general public there is no feeling toward the race course, that I can see. It is not like in the old times, when under the management of English people. The races were more popular then.

M. Paullier, the stock auctioneer, has an auction of blood stock to-day. If in time I shall add a few lines with prices, as the whole stock offered is from your quarter. It seems to me, though, that as far as the rams go, his importations are far from the real thing. I saw some real pure blood Rambouillet rams imported by Signor John Mendez from the 'cabaña' of a French gentleman in your province which cost $10,000 each, your currency, and they did look like the thing wanted. They are of the size of a year old calf, as near as I can compare sizes. M. Barnier's Rambouillet rams from 'Barriga Negra' in the department of Minas, are far superior to any thing I have seen in Paullier's importations, and it is well to be on the 'qui vive.'

We are getting such magnificent autumnal days now! It is really a grand affair our climate in this season of the year, and as for fruit of all kinds, there never was such an abundance! Business is very dull, politics very hot, but beautiful nature laughs in the teeth of poor humanity, and sends forth her splendid days of brilliant sunny skies, just cool enough to be pleasant in the afternoons, and what a splendid ride can be had in among the splendid villas of the suburbs! what has nature to do with the infirmities of poor humanity if it will not be reasonable and abiding?

Here is a treat. M. Beaulieu's fine ox exhibited in the Paysandu fair weighed 455 kilos—say 336 of meat, 42 of hide and 27 of head. This is the production of a farm in Fray Bentos, and if I am not mistaken the ox was a half blood Durham of about 5 years old.

The Nuncio Matera will leave for your city in a few days; perhaps at the latter end of next week. The President Col. Latorre is absent from town, and is supposed to be visiting some of the departments of the centre. Don Maximo Perez, the noted revolutionary character, is said to have died, and it is here also said that Pompillon, another of the worthies of the 'chuza' montonera or 'guerrilla' chief is also dead. If we keep in peace a few years, all these noted characters of civil revolt disappear gradually. They cannot prosper in the times of peace, get sick, rheumatic and die off.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

We publish to-day the plot of 'The Bengal Tiger', another of the pieces to be given on St. Patrick's Day at the Opera House, for the Irish Relief Fund: in our next issue we will give that of 'A Kiss in the Dark,' it being essential that our fair readers should have full particulars of such a transaction laid before them before entering the theatre. There is another great event to be associated with the coming performance that will, perhaps, throw Kisses, Bengal Tigers and Illustrious Strangers into the shade, and that is, the second appearance on any stage of the famous Standard Gong! (Its first appearance was on the same stage some six years ago, in the opera of Norma: 'Hear me Norma!') Nearly ten years ago this Gong was wont to summon 'furious Frank and fiery Hun' to our office in crowds, to read of the fortune of the terrible war between their countries; and, although we greatly fear that its clangour in the cause of Mars may too soon be required again, we shall henceforward consider its most grateful service to be that it will have rendered on St. Patrick's Day, 1880, in the cause of suffering Ireland. We bespeak a kind reception for the Gong from an appreciative public; if the weather prove fine, we defy any gong in Pekin to beat it in the way of noise. We were favoured yesterday with a view of the beautiful, lithographed allegorical device executed for the programmes by Mr E. S. Wilkinson, of Salto, B.O., and for which the Relief Committee request us to return him their best thanks. This really splendid device shows a round shield, surmounted by a Cross, festooned with the Rose, Shamrock, and Thistle, the Harp of Erin in front, and surrounded with the British, Irish and Argentine flags; at each side is a staff with a scroll bearing the names of Ireland's most illustrious men—Burke, Sheridan and Goldsmith; Moore, Sullivan and Lover. We venture to say that, of all the different kinds of programmes prepared for the performance, this one bearing Mr. Wilkinson's tribute to poor Erin's distress will be the most eagerly sought for as a souvenir of the occasion.

The latest date from Europe is to 18th ult. The principal news is that the accumulated deficit in Sir S Northcote's Budget this year is over £5,000,000, an ugly fact to go to the country with. Many of our readers will be sorry to learn that the Theatre Royal Dublin 'the old Royal', was burned to the ground on the 9th Feb. We saw our first pantomime in that theatre, and the news reads like the death of an old friend. In Russia the Government is taking such extreme measures against the Nihilists that an explosion of popular wrath at any moment would surprise no one. His Holiness the Pope has given £100 to the Irish Relief Fund.

The political wheel has brought the right men to the top at the eleventh hour. The new combination of Presidential Candidates is Gen. Don. Domingo Faustino Sarmiento as President with Governor Tejedor as Vice. Peace and Order being the chief aspiration of the country there are no two men in it so capable of satisfying it as the illustrious Argentines named. In Europe Mr. Sarmiento's name is Order and Education personified, and his election would inspire increased confidence in the stability of the institutions of the country.

Southward Ho! The Commissioner-General of Immigration intends sending a strong draft of immigrants to sundry points between Carhue and Bahia Blanca, when the Engineer Department supplies him with surveys of the lands available for settlers: The south will in time outstrip the North and West of the Province.

Although it is high Lent, we never remember seeing so many fat turkeys for sale in the streets as at present. Some people have an inveterate habit of mistaking roast turkey for fish.

A scientific friend showed us yesterday a sample of Patagonian sand suitable for making glass, he says, and there are billions of tons of it available; it is as fine and as white as the powder ladies are so fond of spoiling their complexions with.

It is reported from New York that the wonderful Keeley Motor is again before the public there, and there has been a tremendous 'boom' in the stock. So fast and furious was the rush of investors to 'get on' that the Directors of the Company, in the kindest manner, issued an extra five millions of pats, which were all as eagerly taken as a cat laps up milk. The 'denouement' will be lively.

The London Truth says that Lord Beaconsfield has been so worried and harassed by anonymous and threatening letters that he has placed them in the hands of the Chief Constable of Bucks who has decided to place a cordon of police around the noble Earl's home at Hughenden. What a mockery on Christianity and civilization, when an aged statesman, who can scarcely have a personal enemy in the world, is not allowed to finish his long brilliant and useful career in peace.

A Hungarian paper, in recommending to its readers a translation of an English novel entitled 'Betrayed by a Corpse,' says, that the book is so vividly and splendidly written that the first edition of it caused a dozen murders, several score suicides and innumerable cases of raging lunacy and the worst nervous diseases! We suppose Messrs Mackern Dewey or Burton are prepared to supply this wonderful work, but we implore of our subscribers not to buy it, as we cannot afford to lose them, and attending funerals on such a wholesale scale costs a deal of money in black kids.

The 10th was the fourth anniversary of Colonel Latorre's taking Banda Oriental in charge: there was no demonstration.

IRISH RELIEF FUND.

St. Brendan's College, Carmen de Areco, March 12th, 1880.

To the Editor of Standard,

Dear Sir,

Thanks to a casualty, for which I am now extremely grateful, I am enabled to read your issue of yesterday and answer Mr Carroll's most unjustifiable attack. I must write hurriedly and unpremeditatedly: the 'galera' leaves here within an hour, but I think I shall, in the time allowed me, give Mr Carroll the reply he needs and may profit by, unless he comes under the category 'those whom the gods hate they make mad.' Mr. Carroll opens on me with a French aphorism so simple of translation that anger alone could have prevented him from seeing how inaptly 'lugged in' it was. I did not excuse myself. He talks of egotism, of the worn-out 'tailors of Tooley Street' and, in what he, no doubt considers a fine vein of sarcasm, says 'it is pleasant to know etc.' Again anger blinds him and he makes me say 'this is one of ten chaplaincies in the camp,' (the words in italics are his, I did not write them) He, then, mistaking imagination for logic, draws this conclusion: 'it naturally follows that the other nine, and the central committee in town, are quite wrong.' The correctness of Mr Carroll's conclusion, wild from a logical point of view, time will determine. At present he puts the words in our mouths. Only that I am certain Mr Carroll is, himself, responsible for the note of exclamation, I would say, after reading the premises, and the conclusion to which the note of exclamation is appended, 'an enemy hath done this.'

Mr. Carroll is gratuitously offensive to the Irish of the Carmen when he takes credit to himself, or his Committee, of having been even 'indirectly' the means of stirring up their charitable instincts. A meeting, to arrange for raising funds to aid the distressed in Ireland, was settled before the city circulars reached here, and the very same steps would have been taken, and the same amount raised, even though Mr. Carroll had remained where he well might still be—unheard of and unknown. In passing, I would remind him that he might easily have dropped on a term more flattering to his countrymen out here than 'instinct.' He writes that he and his Committee 'would have been most happy to profit by my advice and assistance if it had been given in time.' I beg to remind him I was never asked for either. Nor was, as far as I know, any one of the Irish priests. He asserts that 'the Lord Mayor of Dublin is as competent to judge how the money should be best distributed as anybody else in Ireland.' Perhaps. We fell into the mistake that the bishops and clergy should be better judges still. Strange to say, the Lord Mayor himself thinks so too. It would be strange if the Lord Mayor of Buenos Ayres, for example, could be a better judge of the genuineness of distress out here than I should be.

Mr. Carroll asserts, rather dogmatically, that I am influenced by sectarianism. I can say with confidence—owing, of course, to the circumstances of my position—that charity knocks more frequently at my pocket than at his. I have assisted thousands, and I can, without fear of contradiction, assert that I have never, even once, questioned an applicant about his creed or nationality. When Mr. Carroll makes use of a private conversation to attack me publicly, it would been have more manly to report me more fully. I must tell him—since he forces it from me—that this cant about sectarianism is most mischievous and uncalled for. There are few weaknesses more despicable than this modern rant about liberalism, no matter what sect it comes from. From what, I fear, is Mr. Carroll's reading of the word, I am not the least annoyed at being accused of sectarianism.

Mr. Carroll says 'the Central Committee had a double motive in wishing the aggregate remittances to be as large as possible.' Neither motive seems to spring from charity. He lashes himself into such a state of anger, that I believe there must have been at least a third motive, on which he is modestly silent.

He accuses me of using my 'limited influence to neutralize his second object.' Mr Carroll sits in his office and dreams dreams. If he had much experience of the camp he would know that the Irish are arriving faster than places can be found for them. He says 'he does not wish to provoke a discussion with me, or anybody else.' Why, in the name of consistency, did he do it then? He could not allow 'the tone and temper of my letter to pass unnoticed.' By what right does he consider himself authorized to act the censor to me.

He is fond of italics. Will he allow me the privilege of using them once? Did he imagine that when I received a circular, allowing me to collect, I should bow my head, kiss it and say, 'Mr. Carroll wills it'? He favours me with the stale story of the Tooley-street Tailors. I beg to return him a quotation much more applicable and less trite, that of the 'virtuoso' who puzzled himself to explain how the flies got imbedded in a piece of amber—

> Not that the things were rich or rare—
> He wondered how the d——l they got there.

With a complacency, hardly to be expected from him, Mr. Carroll tells us that as long as we 'subscribe liberally, and without too much ostentation—the italics are, as usual, his own—'he will not quarrel with our peculiar views.' What fiend tempted him to introduce the word 'ostentation?'

I leave home, bye and bye, and do not expect to get back until after St. Patrick's Day. If Mr. Carroll feels like tilting at me again, I would suggest that, unless he has a bad attack of the 'cacoethes scribendi,' he should spend three or four days in digesting his next correspondence. Then, perhaps, he will have the good sense to burn it. Anyway, may I ask him to remember, that until the collection list was nearly closed I never said or wrote a word that might weaken the fund he was so anxious to nurse, and then only in self-defence; that at a public meeting of intelligent Irishmen—Mr. Carroll may sneer—where every one was allowed to express his opinion, and no one was influenced by me, at which many spoke, and I was only chairman, and for which no resolutions, 'ready cut and dry,' were prepared, the unanimous decision was to send the money directly to the bishops.

Mr. Carroll is fond of speaking of the 'Central Committee.' Who elected that body? It is generally understood that they elected themselves. Surely, they might have had the modesty to consider themselves a Provisional Committee and have invited the people, whose donations they so dogmatically dispose of, to a general meeting. If Mr. Carroll would give another thought to the Tooley-street Tailors, he would find that the story does not need to travel as far as Carmen for an application.

Yours, &c.,

J. B. Leahy.

The gold market opened hard owing to the pressure of purchases yesterday afternoon, and many anticipated a stiff rise to-day; prices began at 30.25, and at once rose to 30.30, but soon dropped away, closing at the opening figure. The vencimientos to-day were very large, 567,500 pats, nevertheless the cash sales were only 128,800, which shows that most of these vencimientos were for 'oro efectivo.' The sales for the end of the month were very small, closing at 30.40, and for end of April at 30.55, and for end of May at 30.65. The sale, however, which attracted most attention of all was 5000 for end of December at 30.25, this sale gives a quotation for that distant date, but, if our electoral question passes off satisfactorily there cannot be a doubt that the price of gold at the end of this year will be under 28.

Cedulas rule very firm at 84½, many buyers, the vencimientos show that speculating is going on in the stock, they amounted to 103,600. Treasury Bills 78, and National Bank Shares again weak, at 56½.

The most important news on 'Change was from Montevideo, announcing the resignation of Col. La Torre; we have not now time to deal with a political change pregnant with such great consequences to the Banda Oriental, but the motives which called for this step are utterly unknown to us.

The gold sales were:—

For cash 128,800 30.25-30-26
For March 15th 18,000 30.30
For March 16th 10,000 30.30

The payments to-day were not so heavy as last Saturday, and to judge by the tables the produce business of the week was not so large; nevertheless at some of the barracas they were never busier, and we hear of one barraquero who has from 4 to 5000 bales ready for shipment. The sale of 500 arr. lambs wool at 120 was reported on 'Change.

Exchange nothing done, some brokers report the rate on London 49⅝ equal to 4id.

We hear that a well known Paris bank will also shortly open an agency here; the new banking law drawn up by Dr Plaza is, however, the sine qua non.

Mr Emiliano Frias, of Montevideo, was welcomed on 'Change.

A Mutual Bolsa Broker Association was started to-day, and ninety names attached to the paper founding same; it comes betimes and will meet a want.

The German steamer Luxor has sailed for Europe, she had a full cargo on board from West Coast.

American hides—800 sold at 64.

Mr A Bullrich, who has arrived back from Rojas, was welcomed on 'Change and congratulated on the great success of his sheep and cattle auction which realized over 1½ million. He says it rained in torrents all the way in, and the camps look splendid everywhere.

The death of Dn Juan M Villarasa was announced on 'Change and spread a gloom over a wide commercial circle; deceased was for many years a prominent almacenero and estanciero, and was much and deservedly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. The funeral takes place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at his late residence 240 Peru.

Coal—

A cargo of Cardiff sold yesterday at 11 pats and 5 o/o dis.

A cargo of Glasgow sold to-day to arrive at 10½ pats cash without discount. Mr Forrester and Co. sellers.

Salted hides—

A cargo 9 to 10,000 hides, at Colon, 55 lbs. sold on reserved terms, said to be 51½ rls.

Another cargo 10,000, Paysandu, 57 lbs. reserved price.

The Rio Parana from Montevideo entered the Boca this morning to land passengers.

The Rio de la Plata took up the rivers this morning 9 boxes of specie, 20,000 pats each box. All the steamers take gold up every day to the Uruguay. The saladeros are all working hard, and Mr Wilson has taken charge of Mr Dickenson's Graseria. They are all beginning to kill mares. Nearly all the steamers are bringing down tongues to the Liebig Factory; all the tongues at the various saladeros having been bought up by that Company for shipment.

6,000 salted hides, Berrisso, 64 lbs, 51 rls.

Telegrams from the United States announce a rise in pine; prices have gone up from 31 to 35 pats.

The Cybele entered Montevideo and half her cargo engaged to-day at 30s and 10 per cent, she sails on 23rd. The Dagois due on 20th.

Danish barque Success chartered by Mr H L Green to load, salted hides at Concordia at 32s 6d and 5 o/o, orders.

The Cosmos will begin to run on 1st April, Captain Elsey in command. She will make a few runs from Campana to Rosario. She is the finest steamer that ever ran in these rivers; she will then take the place of Villa del Salto, which steamer goes up for repairs.

General Caldwell, American Minister in Montevideo, goes next week up to Paysandu on a visit to Mr Hufnagel.

Mr John Davidson, of Santo Domingo, was warmly welcomed on 'Change to-day on his return from Europe; he looks positively younger than before, he made his last trip to Scotland.

Mr Henry L. Green's circular was out to-day, he gives the following about freights:—

"Freights in General—

"The shipment of wool during the month has been very active; there has been shipped 38,428 bales, a quantity much in excess of that shipped from this port during the same month in any former year. The total shipments of wool for the season reach 159,824 bales; 21,182 bales in excess of last season to same date.

Owing to the entire absence of steam tonnage for Antwerp or Havre the rate on bales by steamers has advanced to 30s and 10 o/o at which figure the Halley now due has engaged a full cargo. The export of salted hides is more or less the same as last season.

"The demand for sailing vessels is limited and although the disengaged tonnage is much under our average, rates remain low. Small vessels for salted hides, and tallow for the Rivers, are sought for. The rate on salted hides in the Rivers has risen to 32s 6d and 5 o/o. There are 20 charters for the month against 28 for last, and there are only disengaged 14 vessels with 6102 registered tons."

Two wheat cargoes are at present loading in Chile for the Plate.

We received to-day a circular from San Francisco which we hold for our next.

At last hour gold sold at 30.30. National Treasury Notes, a large sale, at 78. A large amount of gold delivered on the Bolsa to-day. Cedulas, 6,000, sold for Monday at 84½.

From the South Market we have the following:—

The following may be interesting. A novillo of the saladero Nuevo, of Paysandu, yielded—

163 lbs	Tassajo
40½	do Fine tallow
6½	do do. residuum
1	do Oil
36	do Ashes
71	do Hide

All this at a cost of 15380. This speaks well for the working of the saladero.

The Lunatic Asylum in Montevideo is progressing, 6,500 paving stones were brought down for the building in the Central Railway.

The passengers per Rio Janeiro from Brazil in Montevideo have been set free, after a prolonged stay in the quarantine station.

In the sister city the following transactions are reported—1,000 potro hides at 1$50, 5,000 fanegas of wheat have entered the Serandi Plaza, but prices have risen instead of falling. Flour is selling at 95 to 97½ the arrobe for good kinds. Four hundred lbs. of ostrich feathers from Uruguayana were sold at 2$80 per lb. despatched; 200 lbs do do at 2$80 per lb in barraca. A transaction of 200 arrobes washed wool at 5$10 in barraca is reported; four bales of hide-cuttings were sold at 1$70 per qq.

Rio Janeiro advices, under date March 12th, give exchange on London at 23½, 90d. Sovs. at 11$100.

A new commercial firm has been started in Montevideo under the name of Messrs C Caprile and J Estere.

Latest news from Asuncion reports affairs in Paraguay very dull. The retail business, even, is insignificant. Money is very tight, but much is expected from the yerba and tobacco crops; people who bought at the auction, a few months ago, are feeling the pressure greatly. Colonel Cabrizas is dead. Doctors are at a premium; a quack had to be called in one of the towns to attend a young lady in sickly health. The mandioca crop promises splendidly. No marriages.

There is great excitement in Corrientes owing to the discovery of a copper mine, ninety per cent in copper and ten per cent is tin. The discoverer is a German.

Mr Hermann Altgelt, under date of March 2th 1880, publishes a wheat and cereal circular which gives as follows—

"Arrivals during week—

	Wheat. Kgs.	Flour. Kgs.	Maize Kgs.
By Rivers	313,519	77,165	—
West. Railway	377,275	38,752	91,542
South. Railway	12,400	100	96,800
In carts	30,000	—	10,000
Montevideo	53,760	—	—
Total	786,954	116,017	198,142

Exports of the week—

	Fodder.	Maize.
To Europe	—	239,060
To Brazil, bales	115

Besides there have arrived 4,629 bags of wheat and 873 bags of maize, the weight of which has not yet been determined.

"Wheat—The current prices show a slight rise of $5 on superior qualities over last week's quotations. Three lots of Costa wheat fetched on Thursday 160 m|c. per fanega, weight 9 ar. 6lbs to 9 ar. 8lbs. The arrivals of the week show a falling off of 30 to 33 o/o on those of the former week. The cargo of a barque of Santa Fe wheat, 800 fanegas, was sold at 150 in the Boca, 9 ar. The market closes weak. Owing to the difficulty between the bakers and the Municipality the transactions in flour have been influenced. We quote the current prices.

"Maize is up and in great demand; the old white kinds are scarce, and there are no fresh white kinds. An operation is reported in Rosario, 100,000 ar. maize, white and yellow, at private price. In other staples there is no change."

Messrs. Peters & Hull in their circular for the mail give the following important data:—

B. Ayres 13th March, 1880.

Wools—
Arrivals since new clip	5,870,000 @
Since last report	370,000
Amount in deposit	160,000

Since last report our market has been exceedingly active and prices are still rising; $150 having been obtained for one very choice lot, and $147 for others. Arrivals have been fair, and the quantity sold from deposit has left the market nearly bare.

Our market quotations are:—

Havre and Liverpool sup.	$147-150
Do do No. 1	125-136
Antwerp, good No. 1,	110-115
Do inferior	85- 95
Lamb's wool, accord. to class	100-126

Sheepskins—

Mataderos—Shearlings and ½-wools continue to advance; the highest rate obtained for the latter being 27 rls. per lb. for French account.

Campskins—Are actively enquired for at our quotations:—

Mat. full-woolled sup.	No sales or stock.
Do shearlings and ½-woolled	25½-27 rls.
Camp shearlings and ½-woolled	23 -24
Camp full-woolled sup.	35 -36 rls.
Do inferior & epidemia	22 -24

Horse Hair—

North $145-155.

South $165-175. Very firm.

Nutria skins—

Province $9½-11

Chaco, $13½. Saleable.

The public land sale of Mr Gabriel Ocampo is still the talk of the whole market, and we heard to-day that several large lots of public lands, at present occupied by tenants at will as they are called in England, and squatters in the U. States, will be put up at auction, very superior lands, which will sell readily and at good prices. Our remarks about the Tres Arroyos lands have given rise to great comment in the market, and many of the principal estancia brokers state that for good lands in the Tres Arroyos 400,000 and even 500,000 m|c can be obtained per league; we admit that these prices have taken us by surprise, as also the sudden jump in the value of lands in Lincoln. A broker who is at present advertising some lands up there in our columns, when applied to to-day by a bona fide purchaser, refused to accept any offer for the land under 250,000 m|c per square league, and we heard on 'Change that at that figure there is every probability the land in question will be sold, as there are several buyers offering for the property in question. These facts will doubtless incite our numerous subscribers in the North and South camps, who have had the good luck to secure their lands at Government prices. About 2 or 3 years ago we published the opinions of a London lawyer who holds large properties in Australia, and who being a large holder of Argentine Bonds and Great Southern Railway Shares, came out to visit this country; he assured us on his return from the camps that it was the luckiest thing in the world for the Plate that people at home knew so little about their country, that the price of such lands as he saw was so ridiculously low that people in London would not believe him when he went back. He took up, we believe, a piece of Government land to the North, about ten square leagues, and either this or next year will arrange with Messrs Drysdale & Co. for the wiring. Ocampo's land sale will attract notice even in the Temple.
